The bowl is a pewter reproduction of a bowl designed by Paul Revere, famous colonial silversmith, engraver, and American patriot during the Revolutionary War. He designed and printed the first issue of Continental money. He also designed and engraved the first official seal for the colonies and the State seal for Massachusetts.

Paul Revere was among the American patriots, opposed to paying a tax on tea to the British, who donned warpaint and feathers and, dressed as Indians, boarded a British ship in Boston harbor and dumped the tea overboard. This incident is known in American history as the "Boston Tea Party".

Paul Revere is best known for his ride on the evening of April 18, 1775, to warn the colonial militia, the Minutemen, that the British were coming. This ride was made famous by the American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, in his poem, Paul Revere's Ride.

NOTE FOR MR. CASEY

FROM: Doris

SUBJECT: Gifts

As you may know, I have to describe in detail each foreign gift; a few times a year an appraiser establishes their value, and we are then advised whether you may keep them for your personal use or use them for office display only--the latter if the value is over $100.

A few weeks ago you took home 5 gifts from [redacted] May I ask you to send them in with one of your Security men so that I can make out my report. If it's obvious that the total value of the [redacted] gifts and the total value of the [redacted] gifts is under $100.00 and you don't want to send them in, perhaps Mrs. Casey would write a brief description of each that I could use for my report--size, color, brand name, inscription, etc., etc.
